Re: Poll Results for the Wisconsin Senate Election

Going into the final week of the election, the Senate race in Wisconsin is a dead heat. After weathering a barrage of negative attacks from Ron Johnson and his allies, Mandela Barnes has the momentum going into the final stretch and voters will once and for all reject Johnson's agenda that puts himself over Wisconsinites.

- The Wisconsin Senate race is a toss-up. Barnes leads Ron Johnson by 2 points in a Clarity Campaign poll, 48% to 46%, with 6% undecided.
- Johnson's record of putting himself first doesn't play with Independents. Barnes leads by 17 points among Independents, who reject Johnson's agenda that puts himself above regular people – including banning abortion, wanting to end guaranteed spending on Social Security, and pushing tax loopholes that benefit him and his wealthy donors.

*The following findings are based on the results of a survey conducted by Clarity Campaign Labs from October 27-31, 2022, in Wisconsin among N=888 likely general election voters. Calls were conducted using a mix of automated calls to landlines and live calls to cellphones. The results are subject to a margin of error of $\pm 3.3\%$.
